Katrina Thacker

Katrina Thacker is a product delivery agility coach, enthusiast, and ambassador. Over the course of her more than twenty-year career she has been fortunate enough to engage in the ideation, design, and delivery of information technology products and services for a multitude of industries and customers. Back in the '90s, she got her first taste of collaborative, co-creation product development and never looked back. She is a hands-on practitioner, even as a coach.

WHY PROBLEMATIC?

DOWNTIME

8 Wastes

The 8 Wastes are eight types of process obstacles that get in the way of providing value to the customer.

Defects

Efforts caused by rework, scrap, and incorrect information.

Overproduction

Production that is more than needed or before it is needed.

Waiting

Wasted time waiting for the next step in a process.

Non-Utilized Talent

Underutilizing people's talents, skills, & knowledge.

Transportation

Unnecessary movements of products & materials.

Inventory

Excess products and materials not being processed.

Motion

Unnecessary movements by people (e.g., walking).

Extra-Processing

More work or higher quality than is required by the customer.

"Specification by example (SBE) is a collaborative approach to defining requirements and business-oriented functional tests for software products based on capturing and illustrating requirements using realistic examples instead of abstract statements. It is applied in the context of agile software development methods, in particular behavior-driven development. This approach is particularly successful for managing requirements and functional tests on large-scale projects of significant domain and organisational complexity."
